Agreemind is an AI-powered platform that helps people understand, track, and manage the legal agreements they encounter, such as digital Terms of Service, rental, and freelance contracts. It automatically detects online agreements in real time and provides quick feedback on major risks or concerning clauses before the user agrees. Uploaded documents are analyzed to identify key terms, obligations, and potential risks in plain language, while also checking compliance with major regulatory frameworks. Users can maintain a complete history of their agreements, compare versions to spot updates, query stored agreements, and perform cross-document searches. Agreemind further empowers users to recognize when their rights can be exercised, such as requesting data deletion or enforcing a contractual clause, and assists them by detecting available actions and generating the appropriate formal requests.
